

GOCARA- RESULTS OF TRANSITS FROM THE MOON

by Ernst Wilhelm, www.vedic-astrology.net

Classical texts give great importance to the transits of planets from the Janma Rasi, or natal Moon sign. The position of transiting planets in relationship to the natal Moon is an effective method for determining the good and ill effects of any given time. A planet that is giving good effects in transit from the Moon can be obstructed by another planet in some other particular house; in this event, the affairs and effects of the obstructing planet take precedence over those of the benefit giving planets, which are then not furthered. Similarly, a planet that is giving ill effects can be obstructed by another planet; in this event the affairs and effects of the obstructing planets somehow prevents, or somehow helps the native overcome the difficulties indicated by the ill giving planet.

The different planets give the predominance of their effects in different parts of the rasi that they are transiting. The Sun and Mars particularly give their effects in the first third of the rasi; the Moon and Saturn particularly in the last third; Jupiter and Venus in the middle third; Mercury and Rahu give their effects evenly throughout the rasi. Following are the effects as given in the classical texts of the transits from the Moon:

When Saturn is combust, his power to do harm to human beings increases greatly, except in the case of those noble persons who act righteously, just as bile being greatly vitiated by men basking in the Sun, troubles them, leaving out those careful men who have a regulated diet.

“When planets are in unfavorable positions the native is humiliated and any work done by them for achieving prosperity, better health and the like will itself destroy them, just as the ceremony of raising a goblin, done improperly, destroys the doer himself.”

“A person, though low-born and of reprehensible conduct, becomes respectable in the world, when the planets are well-placed in transit, and a king, though possessing a small army or very little prowess, starting on an expedition at the proper time, in view of the favorable positions of the planets achieves the supreme position that is the fruit of actions eulogized in the scriptures.”

BRIHAT SAMHITA: When a strong planet yielding good results is aspected by another planet causing evil consequences, or when a malefic is aspected by a benefic, his benefic or malefic effects will be neutralized.

All the good effects will be nullified if the planet under consideration is in depression, in an inimical house, is eclipsed, or is aspected by an enemy, just as the amorous sidelong glances of a loving damsel are futile on a blind man.

A planet that bestows beneficial results yields its effects in conformity with the Dasa through which the person is passing and with his merits. For, the cloudy canopy does not release sufficient water even to fill the Kudava measure in the spring season.

ECLIPSE: If an eclipse occurs in the Janma (birth) Nakshatra there occurs the death of the native, if it occurs in the Janma Rasi, the native gets bodily pain; in the 2nd loss; in the 3rd obtainment of Lakshmi or wealth; in the 4th mental pain; in the 5th anxiety; in the 6th happiness; in the 7th pain to the native's wife; in the 8th there occurs the death of the native; in the 9th there is loss of respect; in the 10th the native gets happiness; in the 11th gains; in the 12th destruction or loss of wealth.

MUHURTHA CHINTAMANI: “The wearing of gems and diamonds for the pacification of the defects arising from a malefic or inauspicious planet in gochara: The native should wear Ruby for the pleasing of the Sun, Pearl for that of the Moon, Coral for that of Mars, Emerald for that of Mercury, Topaz for that of Jupiter, diamond for that of Venus, Sapphire for that of Saturn, Gaumeda for that of Rahu, and Cat's eye for that of Ketu. Gold should also be worn for the pleasing of Mercury.”

PRASNA MARGA: We shall now indicate the nature of the jewels or precious stones, governed by the various planets, things that are to be offered in charity, the nature of the ceremonies to be performed and the things to be avoided, when planets in transit are in unfavorable positions: The Sun governs Ruby, the Moon Pearl, Mars coral, Mercury Emerald, Jupiter Yellow Sapphire, Venus Diamond, Saturn Blue Sapphire, Rahu Gomedha, and Ketu – Cats-eye.

BRIHAT SAMHITA: The Sun and Mars should be devoutly worshipped with red flowers, copper-colored perfumes, gold, bulls and the Bakula (Mimusops elegi) flowers; the Moon with cows, white flowers, silver and sweet substances; Venus with aphrodisiacs (and white substances); Saturn with black substances; Mercury with gems, silver and the Tilaka (clerodendrum phlomoides) flowers; Jupiter with yellow articles. When these planets are propitiated, there will be no trouble to the person, even if he falls down from a great height or enters the midst of sporting snakes.

VEDHA

If a transiting planet is in a favorable Rasi from the natal Moon, its capacity to grow and create success may be obstructed by another transiting planet. Similarly, a planet may be in an unfavorable Rasi from the natal Moon but have its depressing quality overcome by another transiting planet. This is known as Vedha (obstruction). In the tables above the Vedha positions are also given. There is always a Vedha position for any planet transiting a favorable Rasi from the natal Moon, though there is not always a Vedha position for a planet transiting an unfavorable Rasi. The Sun, for example, is seen to be favorable in the 3rd from the natal Moon, the Vedha to the 3rd is the 9th, and therefore, if a planet is in the 9th, the favorable effects of Sun are obstructed. The Sun is unfavorable in the 4th from the Moon, but if there is a planet in the 10th the unfavorable effects are obstructed.

There is a very important point in using Vedha: The planets that have a father/son relationship do not cause Vedha to each other. The Sun and Saturn are father and child, as are the Moon and Mercury. The Sun, therefore, does not cause any Vedha to Saturn, and Saturn does not cause Vedha to the Sun. Similarly, the Moon does not cause Vedha to Mercury, and Mercury does not cause Vedha to the Moon.

Vedha is very important - without considering Vedha, Gochara will not be accurate. The Moon, Karaka and natal Bhava lord that govern the event should not only be transiting a favorable Rasi from the natal Moon, there must not be an obstructing planet in the corresponding Vedha Rasis. If the Moon, Karaka or natal Bhava lord is transiting an unfavorable Rasi from the natal Moon and if there is a planet transiting the corresponding Vedha Rasi, then the result will be acceptable, though it is not as favorable as when these planets are transiting favorable Rasis.

Following are tables that indicate in which Rasis from the natal Moon the different planets are favorable (+) or unfavorable (-):
